As an introducer IPD supplies our services to buyers and investors free of charge. All monies are passed directly between seller and buyer. We go to great lengths to supply information in as accurate form as possible but we cannot hold any responsibility as relates to any transaction that takes place. We recommend that buyers / investors or buyers carry out their own due diligence procedures prior to making any financial commitment. IPD provides inspections tours and will make arrangements for accommodation and flights in conjunction with sellers. IPD also has the ability to provide assisted tours depending on location and dates required.
